

Opening of the microbiology laboratory

On April 13, 2018, the Microbiology Laboratory was officially opened at the Technological University of Tajikistan, which is equipped with modern equipment with financial support from the German organization GIZ in the framework of the program "Professional Education in Central Asia. This laboratory is unique in our republic and allows us to assess the quality of food products at a high scientific level. It also allows you to conduct practical and laboratory classes in special disciplines of students in the field of food technology at a high level, to familiarize students with modern methods of diagnosis and assess the quality of food.

